Methodology

Data is collected annually from each survey participant, at the incumbent level, for all jobs. Submissions are reviewed by compensation analysts to ensure data accuracy. Results are reported when at least five companies have provided data for a specific job per U.S. Safe Harbor Guidelines. No single company is allowed to make up more than 25 % of the market for a single job, scope or statistic. All data are presented in aggregate so that no single participant's compensation is identifiable.
